Ideation, Conceptualization and Imagination

Blessed Students of the Divine Sciences of Life,

Ideation is creation in its initial thrust. The Godhead's cosmic Mind-Thought initiates an auric field through which the ideation is manifest first as concept. This energy, sustained within the beautiful mind of the Creator, is then clothed with the miraculous light of imagination which allows its divine blueprint to be expressed and to exist in form within the formless dimensions of Presence.

All God-ideations contain the divine ideal of beingness that sustain their integrity and their innate ability to be realized —to enter any realm of reality in which the Creator decides to send or locate them. Until actualized within a specific continuum of life, these ideations remain as cosmic thoughtforms within the Creator's mind.

Once they are energized and sent forth with a specificity of purpose and place of manifestation, their effulgence and auric fields are no longer held inviolate within the cosmic womb. Thrust forth as seeds of light upon the great cosmic sea, they are lovingly given birth within the greater domain of the creation.

Ideation is therefore the first creation. Birth outside of the cosmic void is the second or pro-creation. Full flowering or fruition to the point of being able to reproduce seed is re-creation. Within each of these aspects of the creative processes, the Creator's will, wisdom and love are at play and are fulfilled. Yet the original ideation contains the seed-impulses of all of the growth and evolutionary processes locked within it.

When men and women understand the dynamics of the creative impulses embedded within their beings for co-creation as a sacred process, which is reflective of what the Creator experiences, they will understand that life actually begins at the point of ideation, which exists before physical conception. This realization will generate a greater ability of men and women to procreate with a harmonic and loving intent that will bring souls of great light and of great inner attainment into their lives and domains.

The Sons and Daughters of God ascended cannot imagine a vain thing,² for they have evolved beyond the vain thoughtforms and human desires of those caught in the samsaric rounds of rebirth who have not yet fully realized their oneness with the Divine. By becoming as a little child³ while employing a holy imagination of all as pristine and beautiful the sons and daughters of Man may obtain their immortality in the light as fully realized God-beings.

2. Psalms 2 - 3. Matthew 18

Every image conceptualized within the mind is composed of the energy of thought. These images are live beings, though as yet unmanifest or actualized within time and space.

A key to precipitate these images into manifest form is to clothe them intently and magnanimously with the energy of feeling and then victoriously and joyfully with the physical energetic sensations of touch, taste, hearing, sight and smell.

These lower senses allow the immaculate and imaginative creations held within an auric field of love-wisdom to be birthed in form by anchoring them through the power of conscious awareness.

Ideations flow from the Superconscious Mind to the conscious mind of men and women through a transfer or procession of electronic light when the aura is clear of memory, mental, emotional and physical aberrations that constrict or block their free transmission. Silent meditation with a focus upon the solar rays of divine thought allows these ideations to be received with great fluidity and clarity.

Devotional practices that expand the love-fires of the heart naturally oil the holy emanations from the Divine One so that their resting place for deep reflection and assimilation will be within the secret chamber of the heart rather than within the lower mind.

I show you now within your third eye a meditating yogi in the Far East who is engaging the Lord Himalaya in the sacred science of mindfulness by accessing with permission the stream of his cosmic meditation upon the perfectionment of all lifestreams of the Fourth Root Race.

Witness the transfer of these higher light-waves of cosmic peace that feed the auric field of the yogi and are then sent forth as radiating streams of compassion to raise sentient life upon Earth!

Embryonic Intelligence and Solar Genius

Valued Sons and Daughters of the Living Word,
God has embedded within the seed of every living being or life form a full complement of his own divine wisdom that when sparked or planted in a fertile field of conscious awareness grows into embryonic intelligence.

The light energy vibrating within this prebirthed or unborn being abides within an auric space of quietude that is reflective of the Great Silence surrounding the Cosmic Hub. From this sacred sanctum, a veritable womb of creation, life is set in motion.

This embryonic intelligence indicates a prototypical blueprint or archetype of life that is held within the Mind of the One and from which all emerges to fulfill its innate reason for being.

Without the existence of these unmanifest internal essences of divine design that are locked within the seed, no function nor form of life may emerge.

The formation and ultimate expression of each created being proceeds from an etheric blueprint to physical reality through a miraculous growth cycle that proves that intelligent design is at play and active throughout the world.

The Creator has miniaturized his own auric light field as a perfected matrix that rests in quiescence as it also flows through this embryonic intelligence. An innate urge for self-expression directs the seed to find its way into fertile ground where it can emerge into form and grow.

Elemental life knows the sacred formulae for each seed's expression and works ardently to create the opportune moments for Self-expression both in its beginning stages and throughout its entire life cycle.

Working closely with nature and its subtle laws, cognized through greater solar awareness, allows the fullest flowering of each being's glorious essence to manifest.

Communing with devic beings who have mastered the subtler sciences of life will improve your intuition and sensitivity to *all things bright and beautiful, all creatures great and small.*¹

Every child—whether of galaxies, solar systems, planets, angels, human beings, animals, plants or microscopic life—contains solar genius within her cells. This divine intelligence is naturally expressed when the child is provided an ample and clear opportunity for learning and development from its ideation and conception.

True parenting requires knowledge and accommodation of the natural life cycles of the newborn, the toddler, the child and the teen and of what resources and educational elements must be provided at each stage to accommodate the child's best evolutionary experience.

An astute understanding of the principle of the zone of proximal development is also essential to life-long learning and spiritual growth.

When a child-woman receives proper solar stimulation by being allowed to experience life, work and play in nature for many hours each day, her inner genius emerges and she is set on a course of true inner fulfillment. Imbibing the beneficial rays of solar intelligence directly from the sun excites the higher Atmic functions of divine beingness within the pituitary and pineal glands which correspond to the third eye and crown chakras, where the original blueprint of perfected life are held inviolate in Man.

You have sought the elixir of life. Look to the sun for all the spiritual quintessences and the subtle streams of true, ambrosial food that will nourish your higher bodies as well as your lower sensory centers. Your continuing solar genius may be brought to bear in all manner of spiritual discoveries and revelations when you merge with and realize your true Buddha Nature.
