What is the TAO?

The Tao that can be spoken of is not the Constant Tao. The Tao that can be told is not the eternal Tao.

It is from the unnamed Tao
That Heaven and Earth sprang;
The named is but
The Mother of the ten thousand creatures."
(Tao Te Ching, v1)

Tao Te Ching is the central Taoist text, ascribed to Lao-tzu, the traditional founder of Taoism. Apparently written as a guide for rulers, it defined the Tao, or way, and established the philosophical basis of Taoism.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tao\_Te\_Ching

Tao Te Ching, Verse 1

The Tao that can be spoken of is not the Constant Tao.

The name that can be named is not a Constant Name.

Nameless is the origin of Heaven and Earth;

The named is the Mother of all things.

Thus, the constant void enables one to observe the true essence.

The constant being enables one to see the outward manifestations.

These two come paired from the same origin.

But when the essence is manifested,
It has a different name.

This same origin is called “The Profound Mystery.”

As profound the mystery as It can be,

It is the Gate to the essence of all life.

The Tao that can be told is not the eternal Tao. The name that can be named is not the eternal name.

The Tao is both named and nameless. As nameless it is the origin of all things; as named it is the Mother of 10,000 things.

Ever desireless, one can see the mystery; ever desiring, one sees only the manifestations. And the mystery itself is a doorway to all understanding.

Affirmation by Wayne Dyer

I choose to enjoy living the great mystery. The Tao that can be named is not the Tao.

The Complete Tao Te Ching and Affirmations*

What does Tao Te Ching mean?

“The name that can be named is not the eternal name.”

- ‘Tao’ is 道. It has several meanings: ‘the way’ or ‘the path’ or the underlying principles of the universe.
- ‘Te’ is 德. It is often translated as ‘virtue’ or ‘the application of Tao’.
- ‘Ching’ is 经. It can mean a classic or scripture.

Alternatively, ‘Tao Te’ – 道德 – as two syllables of one word. ‘Tao Te’ as a word is often translated as morality: ‘Book of Morality’.

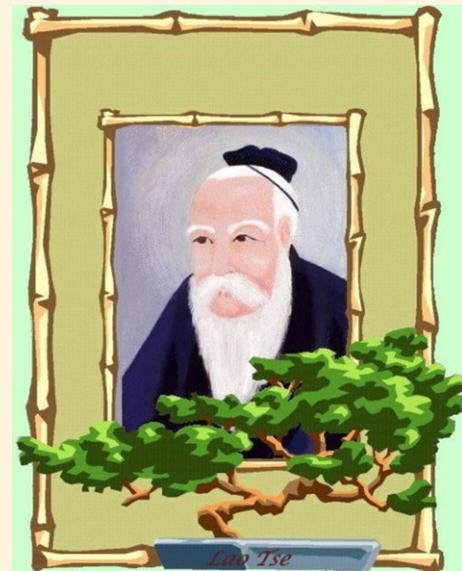

- Morality is more a subject of Confucianism.
- Lao Tzu’s focus is not on morality, as it is dictated by men.
- Lao Tzu teaches us to abide by all the laws of the universe rather than those set out by men.

Another interpretation of Tao

For Taoists, tao meant 'the way the universe works' and ultimately something very like God!

Arthur Waley, The Way and Its Power

<http://www.thegreattao.com/>

“In the beginning was the Tao, and the Tao was with God, and the Tao was God.”

- The Word is God
- Logos is God

I AM the Te Tao Ching realized through the silken radiation of my Solar consciousness.

Tao Te Ching – the Way of Virtue

Te Tao Ching – the Virtue of the Way

The Purpose of Tao

- To venerate the Heavens and the Earth.
- To worship God and revere all Holy Beings.
- To be patriotic, loyal, and responsible.
- To be of virtuous character and uphold the Rules of Propriety.
- To carry out the filial duties to one's parents.
- To honor and respect one's teachers and elders.
- To be faithful to friends.
- To live harmoniously with neighbors.
- To rid oneself of bad habits and evil, and to pursue good thoughts and deeds.
- To expound upon the Five Bonds of Human Relationships and the Eight Cardinal Virtues.

The Purpose of Tao, Cont'd

- To continually develop one's innate wisdom and natural abilities until perfection is achieved.
- To establish and reach one's own goals and to help others do so.
- To transform the world into a peaceful, honest, and orderly society.
- To enlighten the minds of people and enable them to return to a state of benevolence.
- By pursuing this path, to bring the world into a state of equality, fraternity, harmony, welfare, and justice – the World of Great Harmony.

The Purpose of Tao, Cont'd

- To preach the main principles of the founders of the five world religions.
- To obey and respectfully practice the Four Ethical Principles, the Three Mainstays of Social Order, and the Five Constant Virtues.
- To cleanse the mind, purify the soul and eliminate unclean thoughts.
- To cultivate one's true-self by utilizing untruths.
- To recover one's original Buddha-nature*.

Taoist Definitions

- Tao - means God, Truth, path, way.
- Holy Beings - Buddhas, Sages, Immortals, Saints, Angels, and Deities in cosmos.
- Filial piety – To joyfully love, honor, respect, support, be obedient to one’s parents, and also to let them live worry-free lives.
- The Five Bonds of Human Relationships – between sovereign and minister; parent and child, husband and wife, brother and sister, and friend and neighbor.
- The Eight Cardinal Virtues – filial piety, brotherly love, loyalty/honesty, truthfulness/trustfulness, propriety, righteousness, integrity/purity, and shamefulness.
- The Four Ethical Principles – propriety, righteousness, integrity/purity, and shamefulness.

Taoist Definitions

- The Three mainstays of Social Order – between sovereign and minister, parent and child, husband and wife.
- The Five Constant Virtues – benevolence, righteousness, propriety, wisdom, and truthfulness/trustfulness.
- True-self – The true, the real; Buddha-nature, thus always, eternally so; unchanging or immutable.
- Untruths – Unreal, false, fallacious. In I-Kuan Tao, Taoism, and Buddhism, it means nothing is real and permanent; all is temporal, phenomenal, empirical, fallacious, and unreal.
- Buddha-nature: Bodhi-nature, true-self, real-self; the absolute as eternal existence

Why Now?

Today's culture requires a modern yet ancient moral renewal founded upon the dialectic of divine love and the philosophy of the compassionate heart.

Godfre, December 4, 2016

Long ago, many illumined beings walked upon the land of ancient Chin, and they wielded the spiritual fire of Solar joy to bring forth majestic teachings. Even today these are acknowledged as essential for humanity as a whole, with their values and principles of behavior that encourage compliance with the law of one's inner being so that each one might walk gently, harmoniously in the Tao and shine forth the light of the soul within the world to fulfill his or her purpose.

Much of the teachings of Confucius and of Lao Tse have not been broadcast, acknowledged or incorporated into the textbooks of today, and yet they should be, blessed ones. For they provide an impetus of basic spiritual understanding and knowledge that would provide many with a foundation for a more conscious life.

Jophiel, March 9, 2013

Lao Tzu's "Tao" and Emerson's "Oversoul"

- The "Tao" is illusive in nature while the "Oversoul" is perceptible through the experiential nature
- "Actionless activity" to follow the "Tao," vs
  - Active reform for self-perfection and spiritual independence with the power of the "Oversoul" realized from within

- Similar attempts by the two great thinkers
- to seek a way out of the social reality
  - for a more meaningful life

The Power of the Tao

Mastering others is strength.
Mastering yourself is true power.

He who conquers others is strong;
He who conquers himself is mighty.

Overcoming others requires force.
Overcoming yourself requires strength.

When the best leader's work is done the people say, "We did it ourselves."

To lead people, walk behind them.

Silence is a source of great strength.

The Wisdom of the Tao

I have just three things to teach: simplicity, patience, compassion. These three are your greatest treasures.

Respond intelligently even to unintelligent treatment.

To the mind that is still, the whole universe surrenders.

Knowing others is to be clever; knowing yourself is to be enlightened.

If you would take, you must first give; this is the beginning of intelligence.

The power of intuitive understanding will protect you from harm until the end of your days.

The Love of the Tao

Being deeply loved by someone gives you strength, while loving someone deeply gives you courage.

Love is of all passions the strongest, for it attacks simultaneously the head, the heart and the senses.

From caring comes courage.

Because of a great love, one is courageous.

Kindness in words creates confidence. Kindness in thinking creates profoundness. Kindness in giving creates love.

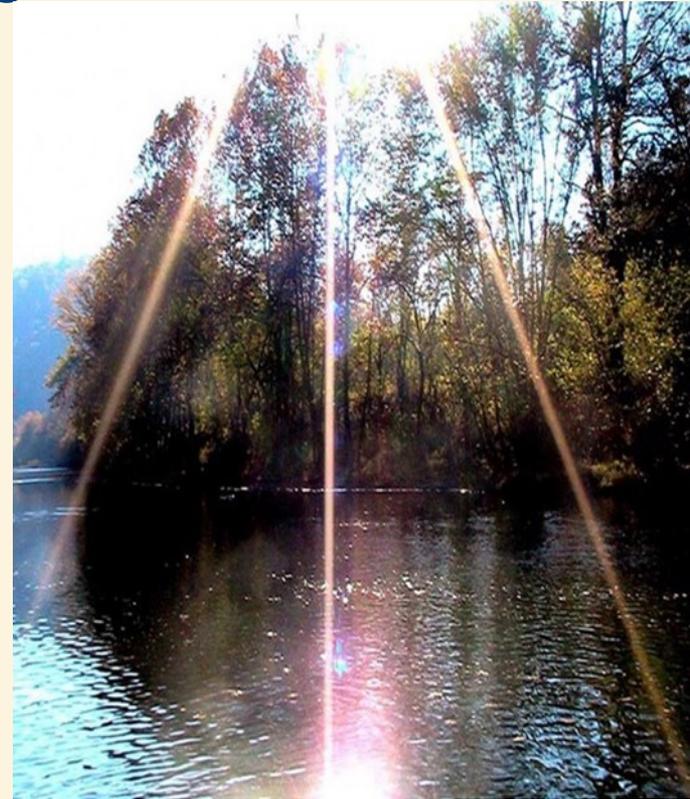

Surrender your self-interest. Love others as much as you love yourself. Then you can be entrusted with all things under heaven.

Nature and Virtue

Verses 4 and 8

The Tao is infused into the nature and put to use without being exhausted.
Tao is so profound and yet invisible
It exists in everywhere and anywhere.
I do not know who gave birth to it
It existed before heaven and earth.

A person of virtue is like the flowing water.
Water benefits all things and contends not with them.
Water puts itself in places that no one wishes to be and thus is closest to Tao.
A virtuous person is like water which adapts itself to the perfect place.

The Great Tao

Verses 14 and 15

What cannot be seen is called the invisible. What cannot be heard is called the inaudible. What cannot be touched is called the intangible.

These three cannot be examined and comprehended. And hence are mixed together as one.

This “Oneness” is the Tao which is invisible, and formless.

By abiding with the original Tao, one can master the presence.

He who knows this “Origin,” shall know the teaching and principle of the Great Tao.

The ancient Tao cultivators were subtle and mysterious.

They were of immeasurable profundity...too subtle to be known

Reverent, like an honorable guest.

Open-minded, like an empty valley.

Harmonized, able to turn turbid water into clarity

A person of Tao maintains peace to achieve pureness of the mind, not be disturbed by the worldly desires.

A person of Tao unifies and harmonizes with all beings.

Humbly, one is able to embrace the original “Oneness,” the Great Tao.

The Inner Smile

Increasing Chi through the Cultivation of Joy

Inner smile originates from Self-Love towards our own body.

- The secret of true love is to be lovable!
- To be loveable is to possess a smile that says “I love you” with a heart filled with joy and gratefulness

Smiling to the organs promotes deep relaxation and internal health.

- Dissolves the physical and mental tensions that cause energy blockages and unhealthy chi flow
- Charges the brain with transforming Chi from the heart

Shows us how to

- Recognize illness at its inception on the organ level
- Balance the emotions to heal illness

Knowing others is to be clever. Knowing yourself is to be enlightened. Overcoming others requires force. Overcoming yourself requires strength.

Living within the Tao

Beloved Lao Tse

August 8, 2013

Within the Now

Within the Eternal Tao

Cherished Ones Who Live within the Now within the Eternal Tao,

I come radiating a rainbow of effulgent light, and I sprinkle upon you, each one, God's essences as a multiplicity of virtues. Yes, these crystalline frequencies that you call God-qualities I have ingested and amplified and now, by the grace of God, delivered to you as an infusion of light so that you may feel deeply a new type of connectivity with your Presence through all of these Holy Spirit gifts, which are yours to use, to share and to simply enjoy.

I believe that the spiritual path can be a happy path, one of great levity, laughter and light. And that is why within the Tao there is a rebirth daily, as each one's spirit is renewed within God's heart and a new type of mindfulness may emerge as angelic voices promote the harmonization of the spirit within the soul and body temple of each one.

Think on this, blessed ones: you are cherished of God. And as, with the Buddhas, you awaken a little bit more each day, staying focused as you turn your attention upon the sun and your own Solar Presence, your roseate nature smiles upon the universe and the gentility of your essence is perfused throughout the domain in which you live, the multiverse within which you radiate light.

Who am I?

I am the one who some have called Lao Tse. And the Tao in which I exist is available for you to live within when you are harmonious, when you are present, when you live within the centrality of your heart—yea, your inner beingness.

Some use the I Ching as an opportunity to have questions answered through an age-old matrix of mindfulness embedded within answers that arise through a simple means of tossing those little sticks and seeing how they land.

Well, dearest ones, I would bring you up to date in the eternal Now by letting you know that although there is often great wisdom within this matrix, there comes a point on your path when you, in a very decisive way, realize that every answer to every question that you may have along the way of your Tao experience exists within you.

How do you access those answers?

Water yourself;
watch yourself;
love yourself;
massage yourself, your heart, your mind.

When you feel deeply that it is your right to know the Father-Mother God's will, wisdom and love, then it is yours naturally; and the sense of separateness dissolves and you emerge in your true Selfhood from within yourself—realized, joyous. And then your entire life shines with the radiance of your effulgent Godhood, your Buddha nature, the Tao, who you are.

O precious hearts, you too may be representative of the ray of integration, which every Buddha models so magnificently, through your life lived to the glory of God.

How will this be for you from this day forward?

I offer your higher mind certain keys to maintain both the inner and the outer sense and realization of your completeness as you are fully integrated within yourself, within your God Self.

This integration process continues through your learning experiences, through all of the dynamics that manifest through your relationships and communications with your co-workers, loved ones, family and friends.

ST <luca1@inbox.ru>

A woman with blonde hair tied back, wearing a white top and a plaid skirt, is shown from behind in a meditative lotus position. She is surrounded by a vibrant, multi-colored aura that resembles a rainbow, with bright light rays emanating from behind her. The background is a soft-focus landscape of mountains and a bright sky, suggesting a sunrise or sunset. The overall mood is peaceful and spiritual.

When you step back and become more observant of yourself in the process and all that manifests through your daily experiences, you will find that you will witness consciously those things that may yet remain to be improved, supplanted, transmuted, while also feeling deeply the new you emerging graciously as you master all things, all frequencies within the Tao.

Claiming your masterful Self and the completeness of who you are daily is essential within this integration process. And after you claim it, then dearest ones, breathe deeply;

feel and allow and accept this completeness, this integration to be fully present within your life.

Each of you is a starry being. And this day I see the beautiful you, the magnificent being who you are, manifesting in every way so that you, each one, may truly be joyous and live in that eternal light of the One.

[Lao Tse sings for 50 seconds.]

Through this simple melody of light, I have embellished within your auric field essences, shining crystalline patterns that will allow you to be ever present each moment in a greater and more profound way—living in the Tao, breathing in the Tao, musing on the Tao, fulfilled and present in your Tao.

I thank you for your witness to your Source, our God, the All.
Peace, presence always.
